AOS Directory

March 2016

INTRODUCTION

The London Cancer Alliance AOS Directory is the result of the collaborative efforts of the 14 LCA provider organisations across south and west London. It is recognised that many patients are treated in one place for their cancer but attend their local hospital when there is an emergency. There is often little information available at the local hospital about the patient's condition and treatment, so knowing who to call at the treating hospital is vital.

This directory provides the contact details for both in- and out-of-hours acute oncology service (AOS) staff, chemotherapy departments, tumour-specific clinicians and nurse specialists, palliative care services and the A&E department for every acute hospital in the LCA, in an easily accessible format.

The AOS Directory, while useful for all healthcare professionals, is particularly aimed at AOS, emergency department and acute medical clinicians, as well as primary care physicians and nurses. Patients will benefit from having up-to-date clinical information about their care passed smoothly between healthcare professionals and hospitals in an efficient manner.

This directory will be updated regularly, so please email any amendments to the contact details to LCA.aosdirectory@nhs.net.

TEENAGERS AND YOUNG ADULT PATHWAY

The Teenagers and Young Adult (TYA) principal treatment centre (PTC) for South Thames is The Royal Marsden NHS Foundation Trust. This is for those TYAs aged from 16–24.

The North West London TYA PTC is University College London Hospital.

All >19 years would follow the adult pathway for AOS. Between 19 and 24 young adults should be offered the choice of having their treatment at a TYA designated centre.

Some of those aged 16–18 years follow the children's model of shared care.

- Children with cancer have their care planned and coordinated by a specialist children's cancer centre now referred to as a PTC.
- Not all care needs to be undertaken at the PTC. There is a network of Paediatric Oncology Shared Care Units (POSCUs) across the UK, each linked to a PTC.
- Those linked to The Royal Marsden in South East London are King's College Hospital NHS Foundation Trust and South London Healthcare Trust; in South West London – St George's Healthcare NHS Trust and Epsom and St Helier University Hospitals NHS Trust. These POSCUs provide local care for children, i.e. simple chemotherapy, febrile neutropenia, blood and platelet support. Most children have direct access to the ward, especially for febrile neutropenia.
- Some POSCUs take 0–16 years into their children's services, while those older than 16 years go onto adult wards and follow the adult AOS model; others take 0–18 years and some do it on an individual patient basis.

Designated Centres and Contact Details

The TYA designated centres are:

- Joint centre: Guy's and St Thomas' NHS Foundation Trust/King's College Hospital NHS Foundation Trust
- St George's Healthcare NHS Trust Imperial
- Chelsea and Westminster NHS Foundation Trust
- East and North Hertfordshire NHS Trust (Mount Vernon)
